Otis Carr, Nikola Tesla and AntiGravity Research

Ralph Ring

Over the years, the name of Otis T. Carr comes up with regard to a flying machine he was said to have built and tested as well as a power source which he dubbed the U-tron. Scant details are available as seems to always be the case with such reports. However, in Carrs' case, he did receive a US Patent 2,912,244 for an 'Amusement Device.' On reading the patent and examining the diagrams it seems to be a Trojan Horse method of recording his discovery,.

Otis became acquainted with the reclusive Nikola Tesla at the hotel where he resided. Tesla loved to feed the pigeons in New Yorks' Central Park and one day instructed Otis, then studying art and working in the hotel, to buy two kilos of unsalted peanuts as pigeon food for him. Over a period of three years, after each delivery of peanuts, Otis had the opportunity to converse with Tesla on his various discoveries. From that knowledge, his own insights, and the aid of his small team, Carr, built a number of flying disks, which worked.... prior to their experimentation being forcibly terminated by government agents.

The principle of operation stated by Carr was that "any vehicle accelerated towards an axis compared to its inertial mass of attraction becomes immediately activated by the energy of space and acts like an independent force."

Ralph Ring is a brilliant innovative technician who as a young man in the late 1950s and early 1960s worked closely with Otis T. Carr.
